Product Description

You can keep children safe and give your play structure a bit of decorative flair with the Bamboo Panel. The panel is made out of strong and durable material that is molded to look like authentic pieces of bamboo. It can be used as a preventative safety measure, as the panel is designed to keep children from falling off of play structures and injuring themselves. The Panel is made up of seven molded vertical rods that are attached to two molded horizontal bars. The vertical rods are placed closely together so that there is no risk that children might slip through the gap and hurt themselves. However, the opening between the rods is wide enough that children can still see out of the panel. You can protect children from injuries and add a decorative treehouse flair by using the Bamboo Panel as a part of your play structure.
